Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 34 to 40.

Of all possible road trips, the best one is by car. You finish packing, put everything inside a car, sit inside it, buckle up, look at your friend sitting next to you, smile and ... go! Then begins the most wonderful part of the road trip. It is not the place you are heading to - it is what you see from the opened window of the car. The best part is when you leave your home before the dawn. The DAWN! I really like to catch the first flashes of the awakening new day. Long before the dawn when you look in the direction of the east, you see how the sun informs the world about its arrival. It paints the dark sky with its beams, and the last stars disappear.

Two seasons of the year are perfect for road trip - spring and autumn. Spring is my favorite season of the year. In my opinion, it is the most beautiful time of the year. Actually, when you are sitting in a car on your way to your destination, you open the car windows and can actually feel that the world is clean and ready for a new life. The green grass is so fresh that when you inhale, you can send it in your lungs. You close your eyes... take a deep breath, and all of a sudden, you hear spring birds singing some fascinating music. Sometimes, among some trees, you see birds building nests, or at least you hope that it is what you see. I like to observe the spring nature. The nature glorifies the arrival of spring, the air is filled with a fragrant smell of plants. A road trip during spring is wonderful. This is why I love it so much.

A road trip in autumn is beautiful, too. The golden warm autumn! The golden brush touches everything around the gardens, the fields, the groves, the woods. The carpet of nature is covered with yellow and orange leaves. The whole earth has been covered by colorful foliage as if you drive through a fine carpet. This is the moment of goodbye to summer and the beginning of winter. The air is sharp, cool and fresh. You simply put on a warmer sweater but never put the window up!

A road trip for me is the moment of communication with nature; it is a dialogue between the nature and me. The beauty that you observe during a car road trip refreshes you, purifying your soul and your mind!

About twenty-five years ago, the results of an exciting new study were reported in the news: If children listen to the music of Mozart, they will become more intelligent. Immediately, huge numbers of Mozart CDs were purchased by people (41) _____ wanted their children to be smarter. The statement was generally assumed to be true. After all, most people think Mozart was a genius, and maybe if we listened to his music, his intelligence might (42) _____ to us.

Since then, a number of similar experiments have been conducted, which confirms that listening to Mozart's music can (43) _____ to a temporary improvement in a person's ability to do spatial puzzles. They don't, however, improve intelligence. (44) _____ studies showed that there is nothing special about Mozart's music. Listening to other classical music, pop music and even stories can also wake up the brain. The effect is especially strong if the listener likes the sound.

(45) _____, listening to Mozart won't harm your children. It could even lead to a love of classical music. But if they have an important test ahead, you should probably tell them to study instead of listening to some music on.

Twenty-five students from Walling School are currently living in France. They are there for three months as part of a living-abroad project. The 16- and 17-year-old students are living with French families and attending a French school. Most of the students have taken French language classes for 3 or 4 years and are finally getting an opportunity to use their French.

Not only are students learning a new language, but they are learning about a new culture, too. Students have been particularly surprised about the French attitude towards food. "They won't leave anything on their plate," says Vanessa Athol. "They aren't wasteful at all." Vanessa has vowed to be more careful with waste when returning to the United States.

The group's chaperone, Mrs. Smith, has been pleased with the students' acquisition of language. "Even the most timid are trying their best to speak. The students are learning a lot. I'm very impressed," she said. Mrs. Smith added that she thinks living with a French family makes a difference because students are forced to speak French. "We are all very grateful to the French families who are hosting us."

The French families are happy to have the students, as they are getting to learn about American culture. Both groups will be celebrating the exchange at a large potluck dinner at the end of the stay. There will be a slide show of memories and the students will speak about their experiences. Currently, the American students are periodically posting pictures and student essays on the Walling School website. "Living in France is an experience I'll never forget," writes student Tina Davis. "I know I'll want to eat these croissants and this Camembert for the rest of my life!"
