My family didn't have much money, but my brothers and I had what we needed. We didn't feel poor. We were like everyone else around here. We used to get together with the other children and play in the street every day. It was a nice place to be. Everything used to happen in that street. I got to know my husband there. He lived opposite us. When we got engaged we had a party in the street. It was wonderful. It's changed a lot. It's a lot quieter now. The children don't play outside. I know their lives are busier, but I don't think the kids are happier. And they're fatter than we were!

We used to eat three times a day and no more. We had a much healthier diet. Lots of vegetables, some meat and very little sugar. There didn't use to be junk food like crisps and burgers, and no one needed to go on a diet or get fit. Everyone on our street, children and adults, used to work so hard.
